

Email Template by Enrique Aquiles

▼ Direct-Sales Based Email

💡 Show to prospect if they show interest or no on your offer.

Example 1

Hey [first_name] - congrats for being featured on [database]! Hope you guys keep doing a great job :)

I'm reaching out becasue we specialize in placing commission-only appt. Setter in SEO agencies that book 100-150 calls/month. Last month Lucas Reimann booked 120 calls with these, which resulted in $68k in cash collected.

Mind if I send over more info?

Enrique

Example 2

Hi [first_name] - hope everything's well on your end.

Not sure if you guys are already averaging at least 3-4 calls/day, but we specialize in placing commission-only closers in coaching/consulting businesses.

The average closer we place closes at 20%+ once they're ramped up and the process typically takes only 47 days 'till they hit KPI.

Is this relevant or are you struggling to have that amount of calls atm?

Lmk,

Enrique

▼ Rapport-based conversation starter

> 💡 The goal is to get the prospect to respond to something that will allow us to THEN present our offer.

Example 1

Hi [first_name},

Noticed that you're a fellow agency exec. Do you offer web development services?

Cheers,

Natasha

Example 2

Hi {{first_name}} - would you be interested in doing a TED Talk?

Cheers,

Natasha

▼ Lead-Magnet/Give Value Before They Ask (Value-Based)

> 💡 The goal here is to prove competence before-hand (PRO-TIP: think about creative ways to scale your lead-magnet using A.I.

▼ Example Value (not just eBook)

- Lead lists (for lead-gen offers)
- List of influencers (for influencer marketing offers)
- List of potential blogs (for SEO offers)
- Tailored reel (for SFC offers)

> 💡 Always think outside the box!

Example 1:

Hi {{first_name}} - not sure if you can take on more clients atm, but I have a list of companies actively looking for mobile and web developers.

This is a list we made for a client but they wanted to stop having calls ‘till next quarter... I noticed that you guys do software development and are feature in DesignRush so I decided to reach out.

Mind if I send it to you or should I reach out to someone else?

Let me know!

P.S. These are free btw :) Hope you have a great start to your year!

Example 2

Hi {{first_name}} - found your business through Clutch! Congrats for being featured in there!

Curious - are you guys currently using cold email to get clients?

I am asking because I wrote 3 different angles for your agency that I think could help you out with your outbound efforts.

Of course - these are based on what I saw from your website.

Lmk and I'll send them you way,

▼ Unique Approached You Come Up (Creative-Based)

💡 The here is to stand out from the noise altogether

Example 1

Hi {{first_name}}, I'm currently interviewing SaaS businesses and subscription-based companies interested in sharing their lessons while growing their business to other entrepreneurs in my podcase/youtube channel (approx. 200 daily veiwers atm).

Noticed that you guys are doing some great jojb in the building maintanance space so I decided to reach out.

Would you be interested in feature as a guest?

Lmk so I can send over a few time to chat before your episode,

{{signature}}

P.S. I run a lead gen agency, and can discuss connecting you with some good prospects afterwards as my way of saying thanks :)

▼ Using Triggers and Facts

"The Perfect Cold Email Doesn't Exist"

We'll build you an end-to-end marketing/sales funnel & place appointment setters to help you scale your coaching/agency offer, check out the details here:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=m8DBCl7uQWA

Here's the thing though, some of these things can be triggers as well.

For instance- knowing they use salesforce + convertkit + actively hiring SDR + over 5000 website visitors = maybe they have good lead flow = maybe you help them take form fills on website and filter them into only ICP contacts that enrich straight into CRM so their SDRs get onboarded.

Copy might look something like this:

{Name} - Saw you're hiring {job-title} on linkedin right now and thought it might make sense to reach out.

Wondering if you're doing anything to decrease the amount of some your SDRs are spending on qualified leads?

Put together a system to take your engaged leads from convert kit, score them based on ICP and automatically add them to Salesforce for {{SDR Full Name}} in 15 minutes so they can start hitting quarterly quota.

Can I send you a short video showing you exactly how it works?

Subject line: {{ICP}}

{{first_name}} - where do more {{ICP}} customer rank on your priority list right now?

if you could use more, can I show you how we {{relevant social proof}}?

PS - Would love to give you a call in a couple of days - is {{number{{ still the best way to do so?

Subject line: {{ICP}}

{{first name}} - where do more {{ICP}} customers rank on your priority list right now?

If you could use more, can I show you how we {{relevant social proof}}?

PS - Would love to give you a call in a couple of days - is {{number}} still the best way to do so?

Subject line: CSOs Looks internal

Nick - where do more CSO customers rank on your priority list right now?

Informal, human, and relevant

If you could use more, can I show you how we helped ABC Corp land 5 of them as customers last month?

Tie in relevance with desired offer.

PS - Would love to give you a call in a couple of days - is {{number}} still the best way to do so?

Automated but looks human with the right variable pull.
